WNBC/WNJU Internship Program

The WNBC and WNJU internships offers the student real world experience while becoming familiar with NBCU's organization and work style. Internships are the perfect way to gain real world experience while learning what a career at WNBC or WNJU in NYC might hold in store for them. Interns have produced tangible results as they begin building their professional networks, and for many, it confirms their professional goals. We offer opportunities throughout all of our departments. Positions relate to research, sales, production, information technology, press, station relations, promotions, newschannel 4, digital media, and human resources. We provide college students with the opportunity to showcase their many talents and allow WNBC and WNJU to identify high potential talent for future staff hiring as well as our temps, Yoh Associate employees and the NBC Page program. WNBC and WNJU look for students who are committed to a career in media/broadcasting through experiences in their major studies, college clubs/organizations, prior media based internships or prior media work experience. Grade point average, community service, and leadership experience are also an important part of the total assessment of student applicants. WNBC/WNJU work closely with local/tri-state area colleges and universities to build an active internship training program. During the current annual reporting year, a total of 46 Interns have participated in the Internship program with a total of 33 colleges/universities represented. WNBC and WNJU have also participated in over 15 on-site campus recruiting, career fairs, co-sponsor, host and have spoken on topics from resume writing, news and media to diversity and culture in the media. The program is offered during the Spring/Summer and Fall semesters and is designed to accommodate a student's school schedule. Students receive college credit and a monthly stipend to cover the cost of transportation. Each internship usually lasts two to three months.

Emma Bowen Foundation for Minority Interests in Media

WNBC is a proud sponsor of the Emma Bowen Foundation. The Emma L. Bowen Foundation was established by the media industry to help increase access to permanent job opportunities for minority students. The Foundation's program is unlike other intern programs in that student's work for a partner company during summers and school breaks from the end of their junior year in high school until they graduate from college. During that five-year period, students have an opportunity to learn many aspects of corporate operations and develop company-specific skills. The Stations have the opportunity to guide and develop minority students with the option of permanent placement upon completion of their college degree. Students in the program receive an hourly wage, as well as matching compensation to help pay for college tuition and expenses. Mentoring from selected staff in the sponsoring company is also a key element of the program. WNBC is proud to have been the first local NYC television station in 1989 to work with the Emma Bowen Foundation. During the summer semesters, "Emma" students rotate in various WNBC departments while gaining experience in every aspect in media.

Internal Skills Enhancement Programs

Employees of the Station are provided with training and development opportunities designed to enhance their ability to assume positions of greater responsibility. Various programs are provided via external vendors and internal GE/NBC sponsored programs. Station employees participated in the following development/leadership skills courses: Career Pathing, Building Essential Leadership skills (BELS); TVSD Sales Seminar, TVSD Producer Seminar, Presentation skills, Effective Coaching, Management Development Course; Influencing Skills, DISC Behavior Styles at work, Finance for non-financial professionals, and Microsoft Systems-related training. The GE African American Forum, GE Women's Network, and GE Hispanic Forum also provide professional skill development courses to employees. In addition, online courses on a variety of topics are available to all employees. Courses include: Negotiation Skills, Time Management, Team Building, Goal Setting, Project Management, Communication Skills and Conflict Management, Hiring the right people, How to write an employee evaluation; Inclusive leaders workshop.

EEO/Human Resources Training Program

The Stations regularly offer training to employees addressing methods of ensuring equal employment opportunities and preventing discrimination. These programs have included Personnel Relations Leadership, Employment Law, Discrimination/Harassment Prevention Training, Integrity Training, and Hiring the Right People, and Overview of OFCCP internet applicant regulations.
